Apr 14, 2011 07:41 AM

Airmall USA announced it is responding to an increase in passenger traffic at the Pittsburgh International Airport by adjusting operating hours for the concessions program. The majority of Airmall stores and restaurants now are open for business at 5 a.m. A select number of restaurants will open at 4 a.m. for those with flights that depart even earlier in the morning, the company said in a statement.

"These earlier hours reflect our ongoing commitment to accommodating our passengers, and ensuring that they're able to get what they're looking for when traveling through Pittsburgh," said Jay Kruisselbrink, vice president of development for Airmall Pittsburgh.
